Wine List

SAMPLE MENU

The following wine list has been compiled to suit our current menu.

Wherever possible, we invite the team from the restaurant to assist in the selection, the team have undertaken intensive training courses to develop their knowledge and, we hope, to encourage a love of food and wine.

Correctly matching wine and food can help bring out the distinct flavour within both. A good match will enhance the textures and complement the taste sensations of each dish.

Tradition dictates that white wines should be enjoyed with poultry and fish, while red wines should be savoured with red meat. However, as tastes and methods change, many people are starting to experiment with their own matches and are finding exciting new flavours in the process.

Please do feel free to ask for advice on choosing your wine and we will be happy to help you make your selection.
